

02.6.2026

Author

PAPADIMITRIOU, Antigoni

Title

Academic freedom and student grading in Greek higher education

Publication year

2011

Source/Footnote

In: Quality in higher education. - 17 (2011) 1, S. 105 - 109

Inventory number

30057

Keywords

Ausland : Griechenland : Studenten, Studium, Lehre ; Qualitätssicherung ; Freiheit von Forschung und Lehre

Abstract

The issue of who has the final say on academic standards (grading), academics or managers, has hitherto not arisen in Greece. Professors entitled to research, to teach and to inquire is a freedom expressed by the Greek Constitution. This article presents a contemporary view and raises concerns about the future and the longevity of academic freedom and students' grades in Greek higher education. (HRK / Abstract übernommen)